Collection Heliodor

Story behind the collection

The most amazing feature of this wallcovering is the fact that it is handmade. The basis is irregularly woven sisal in one colour. One of the threads however, has a subtle glow and the warp and weft varies, to produce a myriad of gorgeous colour gradations. In the next step, a pattern is cut from the sisal with painstaking accuracy. The cut-out elements are then combined and glued in a pattern to give a trompe l'oeil effect. Varying the angle of the weave has created incredible effects of depth and relief.
